Thankfully, people now feel confident enough to show themselves, their feelings and their emotions to take beautiful and creative photographs. This created an art revolution of portrait photography.

Since then, more beautiful, creative and unique photos were born and easily shared via social networks such as Facebook, Flickr, Instagram...

Social network is important role in creating a "take photo anywhere" trend in the youth of Vietnam. Instagram and Facebook are typical platforms for this trend. You only need a phone has internet connection, capture and instantly upload photos, your passion will be shared with your friends around the world immediately.

Many photography groups were created on the Facebook, where peoples with the same passion find others, share their beautiful photos, make friend and create photography events. In these events, they meet other members of group, make friend, take photographs together, share their photography experiences, skills and techniques, and also make funny moments together.
